

My Thoughts Are My Direction: Recalculating to Joy and Peace Street

Author Sarah Vanderwaall uses examples drawn from ordinary daily family events, Sarah vividly emphasizes the awareness of how our choices in speaking, thinking and acting can serve as guideposts for building strong loving healthy relationships. Although written for children, it is designed to be shared with all family members as Grace and Yates learn that choosing words and positive thinking are important lessons in building a close family and a successful happy life. She is providing a non-threatening example of the importance of communication on the part of the person who is speaking and of the person who is listening. Communication is a two-way street. We all forget that at times. This will be a fun way for the entire family to remember and re-learn.
